SATI ACCREDITATION

A system of accreditation was introduced by SATI in 1990 to ensure a certain standard of competence among their members. In fact, accreditation is available only to SATI members with an active membership of at least three months. If membership lapses, accreditation lapses as well.

Accreditation is currently available for several disciplines:

- General translation
- Language editing
- Sworn translation
- Interpreting
- SASL interpreting
- Terminology

The accreditation process entails an practice test (optional except for Sworn translation) and an examination. Once the exam is passed, you will receive an accreditation certificate.

We also offer corporate accreditation for our corporate members.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN BECOMING ACCREDITED, PLEASE ENSURE YOU ARE A SATI MEMBER FIRST!
